SAKHALIN TIMBER INDUSTRY LAGS;
CHANGES SUPERVISORY UNIT DESIGNATIONS

Women entered the forest to fell timber in the Dal'nyy Timber Center of Krasnoarskiy Timber Combine. Logging is a new profession for women.

Two women working together felled 5 cubic meters per day instead of three, the norm. Later their production increased to 8 and 9 cubic meters per day. Their production for the month of February was 135 cubic meters. In March, they continued to work at the same rate of production.

POOR LIVING CONDITIONS HAMPER LOGGERS -- Zarya, No 60, 29 Sep 48

On 1 October, the fall and winter logging season will begin. For normal working conditions in the forest, basic facilities include housing, cultural recreation, and communal eating halls. Much has been accomplished in regard to these facilities in the timber centers. Well-built houses have been erected, kitchens have been renovated, stores provided, storehouses built, etc.

However, the Krasnogorskiy Combine is still deficient in regard to these facilities. At its Dal'nyy Timber Center, hundreds of workers live in sheds, and the house building program is proceeding very slowly due to lack of supervision on the part of the director of the combine, the chief of the timber center, and the trade unions. Of 87 houses planned, only 35 have been built and these are without stoves, windows, and floors. Kitchens have not been built. Regular technical instruction to increase the qualifications of the workers is not being carried out. The combine is outfitted by only 50-60 percent in felling tools. Tractor roads are not being built.

TIMBER CENTER PLAN LAGS -- Stalinets, No 97, 27 May 49

The Yagodnoye Timber Center of Kholmskiy Timber Management was one of the worst lagers in fulfilling its fall and winter logging plan. Very poor organization of work and a low level of labor discipline contributed to the fact that the center did not fulfill its felling and transport plan.

Now, during the floating season, the center is again lagging. As of 20 May, the floating plan had been only 15 percent completed. The reasons for this non-fulfillment are the following: adequate preparations for the season had not been made by the supervisors of the center and the river, more logs were dumped into the river than the water could carry away, the workers who were not acquainted with floating operations received no instruction, and living quarters were not available for the workers, so that four to five families were forced to live in one small room.

By hard work, the timber fallers have cut a large quantity of logs. Now for more than a month, the Krasnogorskiy and Tomarinskiy timber managements have been at work floating the logs. However, the requirements have not been satisfied because the heads of the enterprises and the party organizations did not realize the importance of this campaign, did not prepare for it, and did not make use of the most favorable time for floating.

In the Tomarinskiy Timber Management, more than half of the felled timber, and in the Krasnogorskiy Timber Management, thousands of cubic meters of timber, are still lying on the banks of the small rivers to which the timber was skidded during the felling season.
